

Who are we?

The Parramatta Community Justice Clinic (PCJC) is a legal education program of the University of Western Sydney (UWS) in partnership with Macquarie Legal Centre.

UWS law students work side-by-side with practicing solicitors who give legal advice to Western Sydney residents who cannot afford a solicitor. Our students gain valuable experience helping vulnerable people while fulfilling the University's mission for social justice and equality.

UWS law students will take your details and will ask you a series of questions to see if you are eligible for assistance.

Interpreting and alternative formats:

If you require an interpreter please tell our solicitor. If you have a hearing or speech impairment call us via the National Relay Service on voice call/TTY 133 677. This brochure is available on www.uws.edu.au/pcjc
Email pcjc@uws.edu.au to request Braille, large print, and computer disk formats.

How can we help?

Client hours are 10am—1pm, Monday—Friday

Between these hours we offer:

- » Advice by appointment
- » Limited telephone advice
- » Immigration advice on Thursday

We can help with:

- » Understanding your legal rights
- » Preparing for court so you know what to expect
- » Advice on neighbourhood disputes including fences, noise, trees, and animals
- » Advice on traffic offences and minor criminal matters in the local court
- » Advice on Family Law
- » Legal issues for older people
- » Immigration Law advice — humanitarian visas, temporary work visas, reuniting your family

If we can't help, you will be directed to a legal service or organisation which may be able to assist you.

We do not:

- » Represent you in court
- » Offer financial or taxation advice
- » Draft wills or complete immigration forms
- » Give workers or general compensation advice
- » Give employment law advice

Information Events

We hold free community information sessions on a range of topics including:

- » Family Law topics
- » Immigration Law topics
- » Legal issues for older people
- » Legal information for small businesses
